Planes Help French Rout Rebels, Kill 60

Troops on 48-Hour Alert For Moslems' 'Holy War'

ALGIERS, Algeria, May 11 (UP)—French forces supported by fighter planes ripped apart a fleeing band of rebels near the Moroccan border, French sources reported tonight.

More than 60 rebels were killed and many more wounded in the battle in the mountain country outside Nedromah, 75 miles southwest of Oran, the sources said.

HUNT DOWN OTHER BANDS

Outside Algiers, veteran French troops hunted down other bands of rebel raiders. French authorities took urgent measures to meet an anticipated explosion of an all-out offensive by Algerian nationalists.

The fleeing band trapped near Nedromah was believed to be part of the estimated 2,500-man Fellagh army that brought fire, death and destruction to the rich farm basin of Ain Temouchent earlier this week.

The great Moslem feast of Ramadan, celebrating the flight of Mohammed from Mecca to Medina, ended at midnight. Authorities braced for the "holy war" which the guerrilla army of allah has threatened would come at the end of the feast. The army of allah is sworn to the task of pushing the French "infidels" into the sea.

ON 48-HOUR ALERT

Martial law was clamped on terrorist-infested eastern Algeria, and thousands of troop reinforcements poured in by sea from France.

All 300,000 French security forces in Algeria went on a 48-hour alert against the expected "big push." French authorities ordered all able-bodied men between 18 and 48 in western Oran to register for militia duty. Arms were distributed to isolated French settlers determined to fight for their land against marauding raiders.

Low-flying French fighter planes and spotter planes suported French troops fanning out through Mt. Zeghoualla in a drive to smash the bold rebel bands. The rebels swooped down on the town of Rivet, 15 miles south of Algiers, Thursday night. It was the second rebel raid on the town in two days.

USE HELICOPTERS

Helicopters swirled over the boulder-strewn slopes to seek out the rebel hideouts. Fighter planes strafed the wooded peaks to pin down the rebels while ground troops moved up to engage them.

The army daily communique reported 15 clashes between French security forces and guerrillas in the past 24 hours. "Numerous" rebels were reported killed.

MILLION-DOLLAR FIRE—BRIDGEPORT, Pa., May 11—Firemen were silhouetted against the burning skeleton of a lumber shed as flames destroyed the I. F. March Sons lumber yard, a large hardware company and two homes. Several other homes were severely damaged. There were no injuries but fire department officials estimated the losses will run past the million-dollar mark.

Robe Over His Pajamas, Ike Chats With Hospital Patients

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower slipped a robe over his pajamas today and walked around the hospital where he is undergoing a checkup to chat with old friends and young patients.

The neighborly visits were sandwiched in between various phases of a "head to toe" examination by doctors at the Army's Walter Reed hospital.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, who entered the hospital yesterday afternoon, will be finished with the tests about 10:30 a.m. EDT tomorrow. He said a written report on the results will be made public about noon.

Mr. Eisenhower will attend the annual Gridiron Club banquet tomorrow night and then leave for his Gettysburg, Pa., farm Sunday morning to help celebrate his mother-in-law's birthday.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, who will be 77 on Mother's Day, drove to the farm this afternoon. The President plans to drive back Sunday night or fly back early Monday morning, depending on the weather.

Hagerty said the President, who is staying in a richly-furnished top floor suite, ambled about the ward to "say hello to old friends of his."

He chatted with retired Maj. Gen. Frank Cochieu, 82, Lt. Gen. Carter B. Magruder and Philippines Ambassador Carlos T. Romulo.

Paris Finds Tito Wary On Stalin

By W. GRANGER BLAIR
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

PARIS, May 14—President Tito of Yugoslavia was reported tonight to have warned France not to overrate the Soviet Union's current deStalinization program.

The warning, however, was not contained in the official joint communique issued earlier today by French premier Guy Mollet and Marshal Tito at the end of Tito's five-day visit here.

STILL LEERY

The Yugoslav was said to have told French officials that the deidolizing of Stalin had not progressed far enough in the Russian satellite nations to satisfy him, nor was it as extensive as was generally believed in the West.

In the official statement summing up the French-Yugoslav talks, Tito assured France that efforts to find a "liberal" solution to the Algerian crisis would have his full support. Left undefined, however, was the word "liberal."

WELCOME ASSURANCE

Nevertheless, the public assurance—whatever its ambiguity—was a welcome one for a nation sorely troubled by the Algerian rebellion. This is particularly so because the pledge came from a man who has cordial relations with the Arab bloc, which the French suspect of giving moral and material aid to the Algerian rebels.

The reference to North Africa in the joint statement declared: "In the course of frank exchanges of views on the problems of North Africa, M. Guy Mollet has outlined particularly the situation in Algeria and the policy being applied there by the French government. President Tito gave him the assurance that the Yugoslav government would endorse all efforts to find a liberal solution to the Algerian problem."

Reds Cut Shackles Binding All Labor To Jobs, Empty Prisons of Quitters

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today Soviet workers no longer will be bound to their jobs by law.

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) revoked a series of laws dating as far back as 1940, thereby ending prosecutions of workers who leave their jobs without permission. The announcement said workers who now want to leave their jobs can do so by providing two weeks' notice.

DEMERITS POSSIBLE

Directors of factories and institutions retain, however, the power to fine workers for unjustified absences or to dismiss them. The dismissal still will be entered in the workers' labor book—a sort of passport all workers in the Soviet Union must carry. Such notations remain black marks against the workers.

The decree of the presidium, which acts between sessions for the Parliament, stipulated that persons serving sentences for having left their jobs without permission are released, and prosecutions pending on the same grounds are canceled.

ENDS PENALTIES

The new regulations were made public in a bulletin of the Supreme Soviet dated April 25. A preamble said the measure was taken "as a result of the growth of conscientiousness in workers and the increase in their material well being, discipline in factories and institutions."

The decree revoked a law of Oct. 19, 1940, which permitted the state to transfer workers from one job to another, and other laws of 1951 and 1952 enacted to meet problems of agriculture. It annulled penalties previously imposed for leaving jobs without permission of authorities.

LOSE SOME RIGHTS

The decree stipulated, however, that workers who leave their jobs lose their rights to payment for temporary disability until they have been at the new jobs at least six months.

It was not clear whether the new decree would end the system under which university and institute graduates are sent to specified regions for specified terms — for example a journalist to a certain provincial newspaper for three years, or an intourist guide to a specified post for a term of two years.

CAN MOVE WORKERS

The decree indicated that labor will continue to be directed into areas where it is needed — such as the so-called volunteer labor being sent to open up new agricultural lands in remote areas. The decree would have to be read in the context of Soviet Communist Boss Nikita Khrushchev's order last week directing young Communists to take jobs in these virgin land areas.

The new decree follows a long series of Soviet moves eliminating the restrictions and excesses of the Stalin regime. It bears a direct relationship, for example, to the decree forbidding Soviet police to extort confessions by extra-legal means.

The new actions serve two purposes. They tend to strengthen the post-Stalin regime's popularity inside the Soviet Union and at the same time lend an atmosphere of normality and respectability to the regime in the eyes of people abroad. The heavy restrictions and harsh punishments on Soviet workers can now be blamed, on the "cult of personality" under Stalin.

There is a hint in this decree that the Soviet Union hopes before long to be able to solve its critical manpower shortages.

Marine Trial In Drownings Is Postponed

WASHINGTON, May 11 (UP)—The Navy agreed today to postpone until July 14 the court-martial trial of S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon on charges of leading six Marine recruits to their death at Parris Island, S. C.

Navy Secretary Thomas said he granted the postponement at the request of defense attorney Emile Zola Burman of New York. Burman said prior commitments would prevent him from preparing McKeon's defense earlier. May 14 was the original trial date.

The Navy said the delay was granted "solely on the basis of allowing Sgt. McKeon's counsel every opportunity to prepare his defense consistent with reason."

Court Ruling Waited on Bus Segregation

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 11 (AP)—The three-judge panel in federal court completed a one-day hearing on city bus segregation this afternoon and adjourned without announcing a decision.

It gave no indication when the decision will be announced.

Four Negro women had brought suit contesting racial barriers on the buses.

Two of the three judges agreed in observations from the bench, however, that there has been no Supreme Court decision as yet on the constitutionality of city and state segregation laws on bus travel within a state.

Judge Richard T. Rives of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and Dist. Judge Seybourn Lynne of the Northern District of Alabama said they don't construe the April 23 Supreme Court ruling as a decision on the merits of bus segregation.

Eastland, McCarthy Flay Top Court Sedition Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Supreme Court came under sharp attack at a Senate Internal Security Subcommittee hearing today for its ruling that the federal government has sole jurisdiction in sedition cases.

The decision, handed down April 2, had the effect of upsetting state laws against subversion.

Sens. Eastland (D-Miss) and McCarthy (R-Wis) criticized the Supreme Court as "politicians instead of lawyers." McCarthy said, "They don't understand what they are doing."

ASSAILS WARREN

McCarthy singled out Chief Justice Earl Warren for attack, saying:

"We made a mistake in confirming as chief justice a man who had no judicial experience and very little legal experience . . . His only experience is as a politician."

Eastland, who has denounced the court repeatedly for its ruling against segregation in the public schools, commented that "there are some very bad influences in the Supreme Court," and McCarthy said:

"It's not that they are knowingly helping the Communist cause. It's just that they don't understand what they are doing. They don't understand the function of the court . . . They apparently feel the court should make laws and not interpret them."

WOULD NULLIFY RULING

Eastland presided as subcommittee chairman and McCarthy appeared as a witness for legislation which would nullify the effect of the court's April 2 decision, which was to suspend sedition laws in 42 states, Alaska and Hawaii.

In its 6-3 decision, the court set aside the conviction of Communist leader Steve Nelson, who had been prosecuted under a Pennsylvania sedition law. The court held Congress intended to give the federal government sole jurisdiction in such cases when it passed the Smith Act and other laws.

"The fact of the matter is," McCarthy said today, "that Congress had explicitly declared its intent to the contrary."

McCarthy and Sen. Bridges (R-NH), who also testified, have offered bills restoring to the states the power to prosecute under their own sedition laws.

S.C. Governor Dares North To Welcome Negro Migrants

RIVERS' BRIDGE, S.C., May 11 (AP)—Northern advocates of racial integration were challenged today by South Carolina Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. "to cast off their hypocrisy and accept the Negro into their communities, their institutions and their families."

Timmerman called on "the integrationist to prove his sincerity" by supporting a program of voluntary migration of Negroes from the South to communities "where racial mixing is acceptable."

FEDERAL AID

He said "a federal program of financial aid to enable those who want to mix to move" to other areas "would cost only a fraction" of the billions advocated for foreign aid.

Timmerman spoke at the 80th annual Rivers' Bridge Confederate Memorial Assn. ceremonies that commemorate a War Between the States battle near here.

Calling that war the "war of Northern aggression," Timmerman charged that its cause was not Negro slavery in the South but "the determination of Northern plutocrats to establish national control under which the policies of the North would determine the policies of the nation."

"Much has changed in the last 90-odd years," Timmerman continued, "but some things remain the same. The North continues to be prone to stick its nose into somebody's business, especially the business of the South, while ignoring and even promoting deplorable conditions in its own areas.

BAD AS ABOLITIONISTS

"Northern propagandists are as loud, obnoxious and untruthful today as the abolitionists a century ago . . ."

Timmerman said "the integrationist, like the abolitionist, is a hypocrite" because "he proclaims in the name of brotherly love that Southern segregation is discrimination, while ignoring and cultivating deplorable conditions in his own area."

"The ghetto of Harlem, the lawless slums of Washington, the frequent—but frequently ignored—race riots in schools, parks and playgrounds, the muggings and switchblade cuttings and 32 months of racial disorder in Chicago's Trumbull Park, all are models of those deplorable conditions," he continued.

Truman Says GOP Readies 'High Level Smile, Low Level Smear' Act

By the Associated Press

Former President Harry S. Truman accused the Eisenhower administration Friday of laying down a "smoke screen" and he said 'liberals" must force the real issues into the open.

In a letter to the Americans for Democratic Action convention in Washington, Truman accused the administration of "concealment and complacency" and said it is preparing for another election campaign of high-level presidential smiles and low-level vice presidential smears."

Truman's message was read as he boarded ship in New York for a trip to Europe. He said liberals must find ways to reverse a trend toward the "curse of bigness." He called on them to oppose "socialism of corporate power quite as much as socialism by government."

His message was the highlight of the opening of a three-day convention. The ADA, which describes itself as a liberal organization supporting New Deal and Fair Deal policies, may be asked to endorse one of three Democratic presidential possibilities.

National Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr. said any one of the three—Adlai Stevenson, Estes Kefauver or Averell Harriman—is acceptable. He said any moves for an individual endorsement will be discouraged at this time.

Stevenson and Kefauver were both campaigning in Southern California for support in the state's June 5 Democratic primary. Harriman, the governor of New York, remains "not an active" candidate.

A charge by Stevenson that Republican money was being used to defeat him in the Democratic primaries brought retorts from Kefauver's camp that the 1952 standard bearer was preparing an alibi.

Kefauver, denying any Republican financial help, said he only wished he had the money he said was being spent by Stevenson.

Kefauver, while saying he thought he was gaining on Stevenson in California, was making no predictions about the outcome of their primary contest there. Stevenson has said he expects to win most of the state's 68 Democratic National Convention votes.

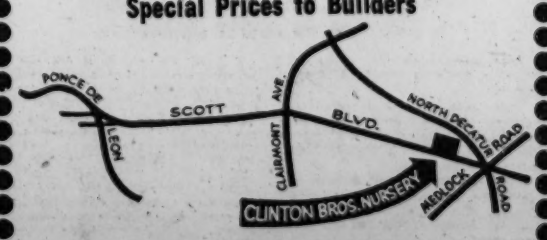

Campaigning in the Los Angeles-San Pedro-San Diego area, Stevenson covered a wide range of subjects from Middle East tensions to tuna fishing. In a talk at a Jewish community center he said the United States should not tolerate armed aggression by either side in the Arab-Israeli dispute.

He said Israel should be given enough arms to place her on an equal footing with her neighbors, and then the United Nations should press for a general arms embargo all around.

AF, Navy Split Again On Air Role

Twining Assesses Carrier A-Power

of reach of atomic weapons borne by carrier bombers.

The giant carriers of the Forrestal class cost about $200,000,000 each and the airmen feel they do not carry enough bombers to be significant.

Gen. Twining said, "Carrier aircraft also have an attack capability with nuclear weapons. The size of this total capability depends on the attack aircraft complement of the carriers (which must also carry defensive fighters, search planes and the like). The portion of the attack capability available to supplement Strategic Air Command depends on what priority naval tasks may exist at the time. The targets that can be attacked by such carrier-based planes as are available also depend upon the location of the carriers in relation to the combat radius of their attack aircraft. The range of carrier aircraft is relatively short compared with the land-based counterparts.

"But we must be realistic about such factors as the probable location of the carriers as well as of the amount of striking power they could contribute (to the strategic air offensive) which is small."

Court Arrests ICC's Freight Rate Increase

BRUNSWICK, May 11 (AP)—Nineteen pulp and paper companies and 12 railroads today obtained a temporary injunction restraining the Interstate Commerce Commission from increasing rates charged the companies.

U.S. District Judge Frank M. Scarlett granted the injunction. The rate boost was to have become effective May 16.

The plaintiffs were said to include every major pulp and paper producer in the South and every railroad serving them except two, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville & Nashville, which supported the ICC.

The opposing railroads said they would lose more under the increase than the million dollars a year the ICC estimated they would gain. Their attorneys argued that they would lose traffic to water and truck transportation and that pulp mills would exchange forest holdings to reduce haul distances.

Are All Laxatives Alike?

A Lot of People Think So but They Aren't. Here are Some Interesting Things About Them:

1. Some laxatives act only on the large intestine, while others act on the small intestine.
2. If the large intestine is constipated and you take a laxative that acts principally on the small intestine the results will be incomplete and disappointing.
3. Likewise, if the trouble is in the small intestine and you take a laxative that acts only on the large intestine you cannot expect full and complete relief.
4. Most cases of constipation affect both the large and small intestines, so if your laxative acts on only one you are doing a half-way job.
5. Some laxatives contain carminatives that allay griping and nausea—others do not.

The foregoing explains why so many people get incomplete results when they take a laxative, and why they suffer from griping and nausea.

Thanks to Calotabs you can get in one pleasant, sugar-coated tablet a combination of laxative medicines that act on every inch of BOTH the LARGE and SMALL intestines. Calotabs also contain two of the most effective carminatives known to medical science. Therefore, Calotabs are thorough and dependable, and act without griping, nausea and other unpleasant effects. Over-night Calotabs relieve biliousness, sour stomach, bloating and headache due to faulty elimination.

Get a 30c package of Calotabs from your nearest drug counter and use them as directed when you need relief from constipation. Bank Bandit Escapes On Power Grass Cutter

QUINCY, Mass., May 11 (AP)—Two fleeing bank bandits, hard-pressed by police, commandeered a power lawn mower today and chugged across a golf course in a wild chase straight out of an old-time Mack Sennett comedy.

Police stopped one of the bandits with two bullets on the fifth green, an eagle in golf parley. The other gunman jumped off the slow-moving, buggy-type mower and escaped on foot.

A third bandit stole a truck near the golf course and fled into a swamp.

Police said the three gunmen, wearing white rubber masks and sun glasses, robbed the Granite Trust Company's Wollaston branch bank of $4,606 shortly after it opened. They fled from the bank in a car found abandoned near the Wollaston golf course.

Two of the bandits spotted the parked motorized lawn mower and climbed aboard.

Police said the mower, throttle open, swerved off the fairway onto the road and sideswiped the car of a Roman Catholic priest who was driving down the private road to the clubhouse with two caddies.

Police cruisers took to the course after the fleeing robbers boarded the grass cutter. The gunmen reached the fifth green before police bullets knocked one off the mower. Removed to a hospital, he was expected to recover. The other gunman sprinted into woods.

The wounded man was identified as William Agistoleis, 35, of Watertown, Mass. Police said he had a minor record as a juvenile delinquent.

The bandits got off to a bad start while still in the bank. Two tellers tripped the alarm and police were en route to the scene while the holdup was under way.

The accident occurred about 10:25 p.m. on the Peters Street Viaduct, SW, Ptl. F. W. Johnson and C. E. Strickland said.

Cox was charged with drunk on the street and violating duties of a pedestrian-accident. Preston was charged with drunk and operating vehicle, violating rights of pedestrian-accident, the officers said.

Atlantan Struck By Train Faces Court Charges

Robert Fuller, 45, a laborer at the state farmers' market, suffered only cuts and bruises Friday when, according to Ptl. C. L. Huddleston, he was struck by an Atlanta and West Point passenger train near the Sylvan road-Lee Street, SW, crossing.

Fuller was hurled from the path of the train, which Lemuel H. Thompson, engineer, said was traveling between 22 and 23 miles an hour. Fuller was treated at Grady Hospital.

Fuller is scheduled for arraignment at 4 p.m. Monday in municipal court on charges of disregarding a railroad warning signal and drunk on the street.

FBI Grabs Car Theft Suspect in Store Here

Recognized by an FBI agent in a downtown department store, a 26-year-old former parking lot attendant Friday was arrested on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen auto.

J. K. Mumford, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office, said Paul Stanley Knowles of Hapeville waived preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner Ross Arnold and was held under $2,500 bond.

Knowles was charged with transporting an auto stolen in Atlanta to Corpus Christi, Texas, in January, Mumford said.

allowed to remain in the Senate and give completely of his energy and wisdom to the solution of problems, Pace added.

"In the face of threats that a campaign could cost him his life, Sen. George had no alternative but to decline the contest," Pace declared.

Pace said he was convinced George could have been overwhelmingly re-elected. Thousands of Georgians of varying political beliefs had declared they wouldn't vote against the senior senator who had contributed so much to Georgia and the nation, he reported.

In closing the "Georgians for George" headquarters, Pace expressed thanks to the thousands of Georgians who had rallied to George's support.

Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson Jr. was mentioned as a possible candndate Friday, but there was no likelihood he would run. Fortson said he had been approached. However, he added that he had given no thought to it.

Either former Gov. M. E. Thompson or former Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder appeared as the more likely opponent, if anyone is to enter the race against Talmadge. Neither has closed the door on his own candidacy.

One leader in the caucuses of anti-Talmadge people, however, has urged the faction to "pass up this race" and concentrate on "winning the governor's race in 1958."

"To the people of Georgia:

"Believing that the people of Georgia are entitled to know the full facts, I desire to state as concisely as possible the reasons why I am not a candidate to succeed myself in the United States Senate.

"I reached this decision with great reluctance and a real sense of sorrow because of my love and affection for the people of Georgia. This was difficult after 34 years of service in the Senate.

IMPORTANCE TO SOUTH

"My willingness to continue to serve was not to gratify any personal ambition. It is due to the importance of retaining the influence and power of committee chairmanships of the Congress to Georgia and the South. Certainly, we agree that experience, coupled with long association with the members of any legislative body, is necessary and most beneficial. In this manner are differences resolved and desired results obtained. At this time, without these, we cannot find the solution to vital domestic problems or hope to preserve the peace of the world.

"I had expected that the united front presented in Washington by your senators and congressmen would find unanimous approval and undivided support by all responsible citizens and a campaign in Georgia be unnecessary.

ESCHEWS CAMPAIGN

"When it became apparent that a rigorous campaign in the extreme summer heat would be necessary, the advice of my physician which I knew to be well founded, and the freedom of political action of my friends became of paramount importance and impelled me to decline to continue.

"I want the people of Georgia to know I deeply and sincerely appreciate their faith, confidence, generosity and friendship in permitting me to serve in public office for more than 50 years. I want to especially thank, at this time, my many friends throughout the state for their pledges of loyalty and their many efforts in my behalf. To the young men and women, I am especially and profoundly grateful."

year but $581,000 less than the administration asked.

In a report on the bill, the committee noted that the administration's agricultural budget provided "quite an increase" over requests of the past three years. This year President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson "apparently recognize the serious situation facing American agriculture," the committee commented.

The report also said the administration had sought "drastic reductions" for three consecutive years but most of the cuts were restored by Congress.

While raising sharply the overall budget, the total was $3,800,000 less than the administration asked for the 1956-57 fiscal year.

The committee also noted an expansion in the department's payroll since 1953. It said the 1953 budget provided for "some 64,000 employes with two assistant secretaries." This year's request, it said, provided "for over 70,000 employes and eigth assistants."

Hutchinson Receives Tech English Award

The son of a Fulton County high school principal has been named winner of a freshman English award at Georgia Tech.

Douglas G. MacRae, assistant school superintendent, said the award went to Ben H. Hutchinson Jr., son of Ben H. Hutchinson Sr., principal of College Park High School. The student was graduated last year from Hapeville High School. MacRae said Hutchinson received a $50 savings bond for making the best record in English of any freshman at Tech.

Henry Wallace Is Back Home at Last

Henry Wallace, who this week proclaims in Life Magazine that he, too, "likes Ike," and will support him in November with all his might, has changed.

Now that Mr. Wallace has rejoined the Republican Party and chosen the Eisenhower wing, some Democrats will feel a mite more comfortable. There was always a worry that one day Henry might come back to the Democrats.

But the same day's news brought evidence that former President Harry S. Truman has changed not at all. Just before boarding the USS United States for a journey to Europe and an honorary degree from Oxford, he found time to flay the GOP.

He put his finger on a fact which is an irritant to more persons than Harry S. Truman. He referred to the Eisenhower administration's "high-level presidential smiles and low-level presidential smears."

It is true the President holds to the high ground while the White House hatchet men engage in low-level attacks which could not be made without previous presidential acquiescence.

He said something else, too, which is beginning to cast a sort of uneasy fear over the minds of more and more people. Centers of private power, beyond democratic control, are, he said, "exerting greater and greater influence over our national life, driving small business to the wall and strangling individual enterprise."

The "curse of bigness" also came into discussion. It was a typical Truman interview—to the point, easily understood and without any reservations or inhibitions.

We hope he has a fine journey. The degree from Oxford is for his writings and for his contribution to courage and to the saving of Europe from communism.

Southern Farmers Need Lower Rates on Grain

Man-made handicaps for many years held the South in economic bondage. Discriminatory and arbitrarily set freight rates that gave preferential treatment to the manufacturers of the Northeast were one of them.

These rates finally were adjusted so Southern manufacturers could compete in the national market. The postwar industrial boom the South has been enjoying in great part has been based on this equalization.

Some injustices still remain. Among them are rates on grain shipped into the section. This grain is important as poultry and cattle feed and Southerners believe they pay more for it than they should, due to the high cost of transportation.

A hearing is under way now on these rates on grain. A prime mover in the efforts to have them reduced is the Southern Governors Conference, a body largely responsible for the agitation which led to the earlier reduction of rates on manufactured goods.

Before World War II this move would have been of little importance and excited little interest. But since then poultry and other meat products have become of extreme importance to the section. The South has a good case in this instance and we trust a favorable decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission is not far off.

State Trucking Industry Makes Great Progress

The Georgia Motor Truckers Association is holding its annual convention in Savannah. It serves as a reminder of a number of things, not the least of which is the importance of the trucking industry to the state.

For one thing, it reminds us of the tremendous growth of trucking and the number of vehicles in the state. In the year 1910 there were only 90 trucks registered in Georgia. Today the number is more than 215,000—a spectacular growth. The industry is now one of the major factors in the state's economy and one of the biggest employers.

The association proudly boasts that trucks handle nearly two-thirds of all freight moving in domestic commerce in the state. They go into the most remote villages and onto the farms where consumer produce originates. About 35 per cent of the vehicles are on Georgia farms. They are especially important to those counties not served by railroads.

Today the state's economy literally moves on wheels. In 1950, for instance, over 182,100,000 pounds of Georgia fruits and vegetables were hauled by truck to serve the Atlanta market. Literally millions of tons of other products found their way to the market place here by truck.

Georgia is served well by railroads, airlines and the trucking industry. Together they contribute greatly to a growing empire, each in individual ways. We are grateful to the trucking industry for its part and for the men who make up its dynamic force.

'Fear Mongers' Have Some Facts at Hand

Secretary of Defense Wilson caustically brands as "fear mongers" those who have been concerned about the obvious technical developments within the Soviet Union. He maintains that no country can yet approach this country's "know-how."

No one will dispute his conclusion but it is a dangerous fallacy to assume that this country is secure in superiority. The Russians have made much greater relative gains in the same period of time and are in the midst of a determined bid not only to overtake us but to take the lead. We've seen the evidence of their progress.

Fears in this country center mainly about the lag in training of specialists—engineers and scientists. The Research and Development Subcommittee of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee of Congress recently has unearthed some startling figures. They give us no reason for complacency.

For instance, Russia now has more trained scientists and engineers than does the United States. In 1929 that country had 41,000 trained scientists and engineers. Today the total is more than 541,000. Comparable figures for the United States are 215,000 and 500,000.

The Soviet Union is now graduating 120,000 scientists and engineers annually. The United States figure is only 70,000 and we're producing only about half the engineers needed by industry.

There's no reason to be complacent either about our making up the difference quickly. The number of science teachers has dropped 53 per cent in the last decade while school enrollment is up 16 per cent. Fifty-three per cent of our high schools do not teach physics and only half of them teach chemistry.

As Secretary Wilson says, there's probably no need to worry about the present. But 10 years from now the story may be entirely different. That's what the "fear mongers" are talking about and we'd best listen to them a bit.

Georgia Leads the Field In Making Cotton Rugs

A Georgia mill making tufted carpets can weave a 9x12 rug in 46 seconds.

Eugene Barwick, a leader in the tufted textile field, revealed that astounding fact in a recent talk in Atlanta.

Mr. Barwick said one of the marvelous new machines, Georgia devised and manufactured, that make the carpets can do the trick in 30 seconds, but the industry likes to take a little longer for top quality.

Georgia initiative, ingenuity and skill have made our state the nation's top producer in the field of carpets and rugs made from cotton and fibers.

The U.S. Commerce Department's census of manufacturers officially gives us that rating. The census figures show that in 1954 of $175,009,000 worth of tufted and fiber carpets and rugs made in the United States, Georgia mills produced $101,898,000 worth.

What is most remarkable is the fact that the rise to almost $102,000,000 annual production has come in seven years from a base in 1947 of $3,123,000.

The rug and carpet business in our state means an annual payroll of $13,797,000.

That is a respectable factor in the state's economy.

The men whose leadership and venture have put Georgia at the top in non-wool carpet production merit a hand from the rest of us.

If all the carpets made in Georgia mills were laid end-to-end, we'd have a vast expanse of the nation covered.

Youngsters Have Ears; So Set a Good Example

If you don't want the little pitchers that have big ears to turn into delinquents, then don't set a bad example. Or if you must, keep it out of earshot.

That's the advice of a University of Rhode Island sociologist who says:

"Youngsters learn delinquent behavior from the casual conversation of parents and relatives. 'Getting by' with things against the law, 'beating' someone in a business deal and not abiding by rules of fair play are attitudes that children can learn from the fathers and mothers."

Unfortunately, things the youngsters hear that they shouldn't hear don't go in one ear and out the other.

It's like they say about secrets told a gossiper—in one ear and out the mouth.

People Called On To Let All Demagogues Rant and Rave Themselves Into Oblivion

Ellaville—What is Eugene Cook coming up with next?

It now seems we are confronted with another evil in the so-called "States' Rights Council." This outfit seems to have the makings of a streamlined political machine that will further corrupt and smear the name of our state by the tactics of its founders.

I have summed the matter up and I am thoroughly convinced that demagogues and ambitious politicians cannot be depended upon to solve any kind of problem.

I pray to God that people will someday wake up and think for themselves as individuals and let the demagogues and power-crazed do-gooders wither on the vine.

He Thinks There Is A Contradiction Here

Tuskegee Institute, Ala.—Permit me to say a word about segregation and state laws vs. federal laws as it appears to me.

I am a veteran, I was born in the United States, obey most of the laws of the state and nation, pay my taxes, support all agencies of community activities and try to be a good citizen in every respect.

Being a member of two large veteran groups, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, I naturally am engaged in our constant warfare against communism and subversion in general.

I am now confused on the issue of subversion. How does it make sense that we fight desperately against one group advocating overthrow of our government and its principles of freedom and liberty for all its citizens and yet condone the loud and insistent cries of our lawmakers for defiance and disobedience to our Supreme Court's interpretation of the basic law of the land?

Armed Forces Leaders Strongly Defended

Athens—Recently we have read several letters in your column in regard to the Parris Island tragedy. We would like to point out that many of the people who have expressed their opinions in these letters apparently know little or nothing about the operation of the armed forces.

It appears to us that the Parris Island incident was nothing more than an unfortunate accident, analogous to the many highway accidents which occur throughout our state. Does that mean, therefore, that our policemen and patrolmen are murderers?

We would feel more secure from threat of attack by a well-trained Russian army by knowing that our armed forces were under the intelligent supervision of the joint chiefs of staff instead of a local mothers' club or sewing circle. We feel that those who are ignorant of the situation should tend to their own business and leave the armed services to the leadership of their commanders who are well-trained in such matters.

Someone in a Hurry Sure Started Something

Atlanta—I enjoyed McGill's articles about the trip to the West Coast and the super-jets. Maybe they are the answer to chalking up more mileage for Secretary Dulles instead of trying to figure out a way to refuel him in midair.

The originator of all this hurry-up traveling really started something.

Adequate Pay Would Hold Trained Men in the Service

Congress has shown a willingness in recent years to vote funds for the fantastic military weapons of the present and future—jet aircraft that travel faster than sound, missiles that go even faster, atomic bombs and atomic cannon. Yet it has shown a strange reluctance to provide money for the men who handle these weapons.

It's a case of money for push-button war but not enough for the men who must push the buttons.

The consequences of this attitude are spelled out in a report by Defense Secretary Wilson, which President Eisenhower has forwarded to Congress. In the last fiscal year, only 15.7 per cent of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine enlistees whose terms expired re-enlisted. Among key personnel, the rate was even lower—6.9 per cent for electronic technicians, 8.1 per cent for armament technicans, 13.2 per cent for aircraft maintenance technicians.

"The loss of trained personnel," said Wilson, "continues to be the most extravagantly expensive and disruptive obstacle to the strengthening of our armed forces today."

Gen. Curtis LeMay, head of the Strategic Air Command, pointed to the same peril recently. He told a Senate committee that the Air Force operating efficiency was slipping while the Russians' was probably improving and added that manpower was his "most critical deficiency."

The problem is not a new one. Mr. Truman also urged measures to make military careers more desirable. Last year Mr. Eisenhower submitted a seven-point "package," only one measure of which became law—an increase in military pay, with more substantial increases for officers and men whom the services particularly wanted to retain. But Congress failed to act on the other provisions that called for such fringe benefits as better pensions, better housing allowances and medical insurance for dependents.

It is these pending bills that Secretary Wilson and the President are urging Congress to enact.

Military careers can probably never be made as attractive as civilian life for most men. But many of those who now leave the services say they would remain if the armed forces had more to offer them. It is penny-wise and pound-foolish, then, to deny them benefits that are common in civilian pursuits. Such a policy inevitably means a high rate of turnover, costly training and less efficiency of our standing forces.

New Orleans States

The scare about an Indian uprising in Tucson ended when a "scalp" found on the desert turned out to be a lost toupee, but with the incident a new industry may have been born. Someone surely will see the possibilities of turning out some of these pre-packaged "scalps" for the modern braves.

Grass Was Green Where He Went

The Search for Bridey Murphy has turned out to be the most-talked-of mystery since some miscreant chucked the overalls in Bridey's mother's chowder. The conversation calls up the story about the man and his wife who argued constantly about spiritualism and reincarnation.

Spiritualism, of course, is the belief that the departed can manifest their presence by knocking on wood. Spiritualism entails calling up the deceased on the intercom system through a medium voice level.

Reincarnation connotes a rebirth, the idea that one never dies, but either stays on earth or comes back in another form. Thus George Burns once told Gracie she might come back with a little intellect.

Getting back to the story, the husband belonged to the reincarnation school and his wife had firm faith in spiritualism. They got nowhere in their arguments. They agreed the case wouldn't be settled until one of them died.

The hubby died first. Whereupon the widow went to a medium and tried for contact. The call went through like long distance dialing.

"You see," the wife gloated, "I told you spiritualism was the stuff. By the way, how is it where you are?"

"Why, it's wonderful," the husband replied. "The brooks babble through the pastures, the grass is green and the cows have beautiful eyes."

"Cows?" said the wife. "I didn't know they had cows in Heaven."

"Who's talking about Heaven?" the husband chortled. "I'm a bull on a ranch out in Montana."

SHORT SUBJECTS: being quotes clipped at random: The Kokomo (Ind.) Tribune says, "Too many people discover that the faster you travel, the sooner old age catches up with you." Someone else said your age is determined by what you take two of, stairs or pills. . . . There is an old Sanskrit proverb which says, "Meet thy neighbor, talk with him and there will be peace." . . . I heard a man say the other day, "To travel hopefully is better than to arrive." That depends, I would think, on where one is going.

We Now Can Hear Voices of the Stars

Ever since the first cave dweller looked up at the sky and saw the stars and wondered, men have been studying the universe about them. That weak instrument, the human eye, could detect some 5,000 stars, note the pattern of their relationship and give to their arrangements in the sky descriptive titles out of man's own experience—the Bear, the Water Carrier, the Archer.

The first telescopes pushed back the dark much further, revealing millions, instead of thousands, and revealed the great wheel in which the galaxies spin. Today the furthest seeing eye that has yet been designed—the great telescope at Palomar, reveals not millions, but billions of stars and shows our universe to be but one of many aggregations of hot stars and cold planets drifting in limitless space amid millions of greater galaxies.

For all those years when the human eye and visible light rays were used to probe the secrets of the universe, that other instrument of the senses—the ear—was unemployed in the great search that claimed the interest of the astronomers. Only the poets groping within their souls for phrases to express a new thought had come up with the idea that the universe has a voice—but their lines, "the music of the spheres,"—"the stars sing together"—had no meaning to practical men.

Then came the war, and radio men, seeking the causes of the static that garbled the speech of ships and planes made a curious discovery. Much of the interferences, they learned, came from nearby sources, from electrical apparatus made by man, from local electrical storms, from electronic disturbances emanating from our own sun.

But there was another noise in their receivers that could not be attributed to any of these—a gentle hissing, varying in tone from hour to hour—which came, they found, from the furthest reaches of our own galaxy, from the heart of the Milky Way itself.

And now a great new science has opened up, the science of radio astronomy, by which men can project their study of what lies beyond the reaches of the eye by listening to the murmuring of the many voices of the universe.

Thus a new frontier is opened, a door to knowledge opened wider than it has ever been opened before, upon a greater field whose geography is still unknown. The new horizon has no limit.

The astronomer using light as his tool may find his vision blurred by cloud, or cosmic dust. The radio astronomer finds no such thwarting wall between him and the far beyond: By day and night, through clear skies or cloudy, the strange quiet voices come through. We may never see the Maker of the Universe, but now we can hear the gentle whirring of the great machine He made and set in motion.

Contentment Eludes Majority of Us Still

I suppose most parents when asked what above all else they desire for their children would respond that they hope their children may be happy. It always seems to me that the parent who has had more than his share of sorrow and trouble is the one who tries desperately to guarantee a worry-free existence for his child. And the father who has worked hardest to make ends meet seems to be most anxious to leave a handsome legacy to his children.

All of these are, of course, worthy evidences of parental love and concern, and each of us wants our children to avoid our errors and to bypass our troubles. Yet is it not true that those very trials were the stepping stones to our realization of life's meaning and to the achievement of a sense of accomplishment for most of us?

The troubles seemed unbearable for we thought we were being tried by fire. But we came through with new convictions, a deeper faith and a profound belief in ourselves and in God. We would not have avoided those troubles now that we can look on them and our conquering of them. But, no, we don't want our children to face such trials and so we indulgently give to the children all we can of this world's goods.

To want our children to be happy is natural. But what do we really mean by happiness? The word often sounds superficial and shallow, suggesting all kinds of carefree and happy-go-lucky connotations and the gratification of every desire. But our children with such indulgence would become soft, unhardened by the lessons of their own experience.

We can wish that they may learn from the cumulative experience of all mankind, ourselves included, but we surely would not wish to deny them the capacity to meet life squarely and without flinching or whimpering. We want them to meet life faithfully, intellectually and stalwartly, for they may have to face up to difficulties and opportunities which have been beyond the scope of our lives. To have the ability and the will to meet life courageously will never come to them without our training them to face the good and the evil, the sunny and shadowed day with an equal heroism.

One of the finest explanations of a happy life is a life "in which the individual, through some internally consistent philosophy, is capable of resolving the conflicts among his different motives so that the effects of frustration are nullified and in which the individual possesses a well-integrated personality capable of finding contentment within itself." I don't know who wrote those words, but they are worthy of much thought. In that sentence is a legacy which every parent should want to offer, through careful parental training, to his child.

Georgia Baby Crop Soars Ever Higher

Possibly a mistake was made when the Georgia Assembly adopted a new flag this year, a model incorporating the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy. There's nothing wrong with that banner, understand, but judging by the booming baby business in this state, we wouldn't be going wrong if we hoisted a diaper atop the State Capitol.

Georgia is a country of young people and it's getting younger all the time. There are several sources to back this premise.

The United States government, which keeps up to the minute on practically everything, has come along and proclaimed 955,315 Georgians have been born since the end of World War II, a birth rate of a baby every five minutes. And, says the Atlanta office of the Commerce Department, this great production of Georgians represents a baby boom that is exceeded — percentagewise — by only one of the seven Southeastern states.

Georgia had 101,153 births last year and that figure represents a gain of 18.1 per cent over the 85,667 babies of 1946. Florida, meantime, was showing a 66 per cent gain during the 1946-1955 years. There's no reason for the Sand State to get uppity, though, for they had only 89,149 babies down there last year. Percentage-wise, however, they outdid Georgia in the gain from 1946 to 1955.

The statistical wizards of the State Health Department also are concerned with the doings of Georgia's population. Last year the health department estimated the Georgia population totaled 3,736,000 persons. Examination of the age-group components of this total gives some interesting findings.

Thirty per cent of all Georgians are under 15 years of age. And almost half of the state's population is under 25 years of age. One's first inclination is not to believe this, but it is true. Exactly 47 per cent of Georgia's total population is under 25 years of age.

The Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Queen Elizabeth, got up the other day in Ipswich, England, and made a speech. He decried "those starry-eyed people who imagine that when the next generation takes charge everything is going to be all right." The Duke, without batting an eye, went on to tell the stricken scholars of Ipswich School: "I believe you'll make just as big a mess of things as we have."

Georgia, with a birth rate far surpassing that of England, has a wonderful opportunity to prove the Duke doesn't know what he's talking about.

This state is doing its whoopingest to do something for the young. More than half of all government income is being spent on education. Millions upon millions are being put into new school buildings through the bonding capacities of the School Building Authority. The Board of Regents only this week announced increased funds for the colleges.

If the next generation is going to fizzle, it is going to be the best educated bunch of failures in history. And that doesn't make sense.

Duke, you're a good chap but you're all wet.

It Might Have Been

It might have been eight years ago, except for the score and the course. Gene Dahlbender Jr. had put out Charlie Dudley in the third round of the Southern Amateur golf tournament. The score was 3 and 2. Eight years ago the score was 5 and 3. This was Druid Hills. That was the Capital City club.

They stood by the 18th green, Dahlbender father and son, Dudley and a little knot of people who'd followed the match. Charlie pushed back the bill of his topless cap and said he had to get back home to Greenville, S.C.

Bisher

"Well, it's been a good week," he said. "I won the medal. I tied the record. I played good golf, but I lost to the best player in the tournament."

That was like 1948, too. Dudley lost to the best player in the tournament that year. Dahlbender went on to the finals and defeated George Hamer for the title.

Later in the year he struck a match to the National Amateur in Memphis. Skee Riegel was the defending champion, and Dahlbender took him apart in the first round. He had everything going for him, including Bermuda greens, until Willie Turnesa, who was to win it, caught him in the semifinals and whipped him, 8 and 6.

It isn't easy to write the story of Gene Dahlbender, for it's a story of might-have-been. Some of it still could be, but it's getting late and there's no way of calling back eight years. In those days of '48, Dahlbender had the brightest future of any amateur golfer in the country, and people knew it and talked about it. It seemed only a question of meeting the timetable.

Craig Wood came to Dahlbender's father, who merchandises Walter Hagen golf equipment, after watching the son play a tournament round one day with Vic Ghezzi.

"I've watched your boy play," Wood said, "and nobody hits the ball as far as he does. I want to make arrangements to get him on with Claude Harmon at Winged Foot. He can learn a lot there and it's just up to him, how far he goes from there."

—Late for the Gravy Train

This came off as scheduled. Then somewhere along the line Dahlbender missed the gravy train as it pulled out of the station. Maybe the desire ran out. Maybe the living was too easy. Maybe he was over-coached. He had the game. It was there for everybody to see.

"But he'd rather have been playing the drums, or blowing a horn in some dance band than playing golf," Dahlbender Sr. said. "Tommy Dorsey told me once, 'All my life I've wanted to be a good golfer and I never had any game, and there's a boy who's got a great game and all he wants to do is play music.'"

Gene won the Dogwood tournament at Druid Hills this year and felt the bug begin to bite again. He wanted to win the Southern Amateur, bad, real bad. So did Arnold Blum.

"I'm serious about my golf now," he said. "Actually, what I really want is to make the Walker Cup team and play in the Masters again. I think I've got the ability to win the National Amateur. I want a few more cracks at that."

"Why this sudden seizure of desire?" somebody asked him.

"Well, I'm 32 years old and I'm not getting any younger," he said. "Maybe I can make something out of all this yet."

What really happened to the Dahlbender career? "I ran out of money for one thing," he said. "Things didn't go too good at Winged Foot. I came on back home, after I'd tried playing the circuit for a few weeks."

—15 Strokes and Whatta You Get?

Gene never crashed the money in nine tournaments. "Eight times," he said, "I missed by one stroke. One time I finished 15 strokes under par and out of the money. I averaged 70 strokes for 32 rounds. That's pretty good golf, isn't it? But I couldn't make any money. I didn't have any sponsor backing me up, so I had to come home."

Then the fadeout set in. He drove a truck for awhile, held odd jobs around town, played a little golf, but probably spent more time away from his old clubs and out at Candler Park with his boyhood friend, Jim Yates.

Gene waited two years, as prescribed by the USGA, and regained his amateur status. Last fall he pulled off the General Oglethorpe tournament in Savannah by 21 strokes, which might be a USGA record. He plays five days a week, at least, and sweats over the game like he never did when it all came easier. It's late, but maybe not too late.

Every golf move he made came naturally as a boy. When he was 11 a newsreel company shot a film of him and his fantastic game. His father preached golf to him, promised him that "if you'll work, one of these days you'll break 60." One of those days he did. He shot 32-27—59 over a par-71 course in Nashville, Tenn. He shot a 63, set the course record at Druid Hills and later duplicated it. But his desire for the game came and went. He went off to school at Louisiana State, promising faithfully to work on his game, then hocked his clubs.

"He's a funny guy, that boy," his father said. "Maybe I've preached golf too much. But I always get the feeling that he'd rather be playing the drums in some night club band or out at the ball park watching the Crackers than playing the game."

REHM'S ERA NOW 2.60; SINOVIC BACK MONDAY

In reeling off his fourth complete game, Southpaw Vic Rehm shaved his era to 2.60 Friday night. He has yielded only three runs (two earned) in the last 33 rounds.

Manager Clyde King expects to have Dick Sinovic, the club's leading hitter before Buck Riddle broke in with a 1.000 mark, back in the lineup next Monday. Sinovic is still sidelined with a pulled leg muscle. . . . After scoring only six runs in four games, the Crackers have cracked back with 23 in three games.

Mobile's Billy Joe Davidson, Cleveland-owned $100 grand bonus boy, didn't make the trip here with the Bears due to illness. . . . Since snapping out of a fierce slump, Bob Montag has mauled three homers in two nights and connected safely in five straight games.

Rehm Fans 13 Bears, Coasts On Crest of Crax' Bat Burst

Montag's Two Homers, Five Straight Hits By Newcomer Riddle Spark 12-2 Triumph

By JESSE OUTLAR

Quick Vic Rehm struck out 13 Mobile batters and Atlanta's Crackers struck 16 hits, including two homers by Bob Montag and five straight safeties by newcomer Buck Riddle, to plaster the Bears, 12-2, Friday night.

An elated ladies night crowd of 3,095 watched the rejuvenated Crackers equal their highest scoring total of the year, grab their third straight victory and spoil Mobile Manager Jo Jo White's homecoming party.

Supplied only two runs while allowing the same total in 24 previous innings, Rehm was treated to a dozen runs in the first six frames by his apologetic mates.

Riddle, looking the part of the $36,000 bonus boy that he is, celebrated his release from the Army by slugging a mammoth 415-foot triple and four singles to deliver four runs.

That was all the aid the spectacular Rehm needed to secure his fourth victory in five decisions. But all of the Crackers, except Sammy Meeks and Rehm, joined in the assault on loser Don Nance and reliefer Walt Kellner.

The 20-year-old Rehm, the the best Major League pitching prospect the Crackers have had in a decade, whiffed all of the Bear starters but John Waters, who collected three of the seven Mobile hits, and Ted Bartz. The ninth was the only frame in which at least one Bear didn't go down swinging.

Six walks and four Cracker errors provided plenty of scoring opportunities, but Rehm tantalized the Bears by stranding 15—four shy of the league record.

Montag powered his No. 5 homer in the first to start the slugathon, but the Bears promoted an unearned marker in the second. The Crackers then winged out front for keeps in the second when Frank DiPrima fractured an 0-for-17 slump with a triple to start a two-run comeback. Riddle, in his first professional swing since being voted the MVP award at Jacksonville in 1954, delivered Frank with a single, the first of his five hits. Riddle took third on Frank Sacka's single and came in when Rehm bounced into a force-out.

Bill Reynolds, who laced three singles, and Bob Boring wrapped hits around Montag's walk for one run in the third, and Riddle singled for another and a 5-1 lead.

Montag then mauled his No. 6 clout into the signs in the fourth.

Continuing their lusty long-ball belting, the Crackers wired DiPrima's double with Riddle's 415-ft. triple to left-center for a run in the fifth.

They then raked Kellner, with the aid of the rattled Mobile infield, for five runs in the sixth. Singles by Reynolds, Boring and Riddle, mixed with two walks and three Mobile errors, did the damage.

After leaving nine men on in the first six rounds, the Bears produced a run in the seventh

Sanders and Blum Shoot Way Into Southern Amateur Finals

Dahlbender Falls, 4 and 3

By BERT PRATHER

Two of amateur golf's straightest hitters and finest competitors—Arnold Blum of Macon and Doug Sanders, native of Cedartown, but now playing out of Miami Beach, Fla.,—will battle for the right to wear the golden anniversary Southern Amateur crown Saturday at Druid Hills Golf Club.

Doug and Arnold turned the 50th tournament into an all-Georgia final by winning two matches each in Friday's quarter and semifinals.

Blum, winner of the Southern title in 1951 at Columbus, whipped long-hitting Gene Dahlbender Jr. of Atlanta, 4 and 3, Friday morning and dark-horse Art Butler of Tallahassee, Fla., in the afternoon semis by the same score.

Sanders, who will leave in 10 days for England and his first try for the British amateur title now held by Texan Joe Conrad, gained his shot at Dixie golf's most cherished title by whipping Ed Gravely of Rocky Mount, N.C. and Chattanooga's Lew Oehmig.

and Oehmig, the Tennessee amateur king, 4 and 2.

Blum and Sanders will tee off on the first 18 at 9:15 Saturday morning. The afternoon round will start at 2.

Most observers believe the match will be one of the keenest Southern finals in many years. Both are extremely fine putters and noted for avoiding trouble off the tees.

Both have fine golfing backgrounds. Blum, in addition to his Southern victory in Columbus, went to the quarterfinals of the 1951 U.S. Amateur at Bethlehem, Pa., losing on the 20th hole to Billy Maxwell, the eventual winner.

In the 1953 National Amateur at Oklahoma City, Arnold went to the round of 16. He's been a Walker Cup alternate and earned an invitation to the 1952 Masters by virtue of his showing in the '51 Amateur. He has won the Georgia state crown three times and has countless other sectional titles to his credit.

Sanders came onto the national scene unannounced in 1951 to capture the national Jaycee junior championship at Durham, N.C. Doug later won two Thomasville Piney Woods championships, two Southeastern Amateur crowns and last year hit the big time again by winning both the All-American and World amateur titles at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter club.

A couple of weeks ago he shot a 66 to establish a new qualifying record in the North-South Amateur and from there moved to Tallahassee, Fla., where he established a new 72-hole record in winning the Florida amateur championship.

Phils Snare Haddix, End Southpaw Hunt

Five-Pitcher Trade Sends Wehmeier, Dickson to Cards

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies acquired Harvey Haddix from the St. Louis Cardinals today in a five-pitcher trade the club hopes will end its search for a southpaw successor to Curt Simmons.

Righthanders Herman Wehmeier and Murry Dickson went to St. Louis for Haddix, Stu Miller and Ben Flowers. All will report to their new clubs either today or tomorrow.

General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phillies announced the deal and intimated it may be the first of several moves to help his slumping club. The Phillies have lost seven in a row and are mere percentage points out of the National League cellar.

Hamey has been touring the league cities in an effort to acquire a southpaw, since it has become obvious that Simmons, the one-time fire-balling $65,000 bonus kid, will never be the same. Simmons, who won 17 games in the club's 1950 pennant race, developed a sore arm last year and hasn't been able to regain his form although he says his arm isn't sore now.

MORE BASEBALL: The Boston Red Sox sold third baseman Grady Hatton to the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed sum. A Cincinnati Redlegs for eight years before going to the American league, Hatton has pinch-hit five times this year and gotton two bingles. . . Frank Skaff, manager of the Augusta Tigers in the Sally League,—has been tapped for pilot duty at Charleston, W.Va., with the Tiger Farm Club. Bill Norman comes to Augusta from Terre Haute, Ind., and Charley Metro goes from Charleston to replace him. . . . The Tigers' shortstop Harvey Kuenn underwent a physical examination on orders from his draft board. Previously classified as 4F because of bad knees, Kuenn was examined by an orthopedic specialist. . . . Cleveland Indians' physician Dr. Don Kelly said that tests are inconclusive as yet on whether Gene Woodling has diabetes. If the Tribe's outfielder does have diabetes, Dr. Kelly said "it won't necessarily hurt his playing." . . . Walt Masterson, righthander with Boston Red Sox and Washington for 13 years, was signed by the Detroit Tigers, after having been voluntarily retired since 1953. He is 35 and has a life won-lost record of 77-99.

Ft. Mac Wins Behind O'Dell

Joe Fuller hit two home runs and Bob Anderton three doubles Friday as Ft. McPherson beat Donaldson Air Force Base of South Carolina, 10-2, on Hedekin Field.

Billy O'Dell struck out 15 batters in pitching his third victory.

The teams play again Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Fort Mac.

Amoros-Led Bums Pepper Giants, 8-4

Craig Goes Route To Win; Campy Returns to Lineup

BROOKLYN, May 11 (AP)—Sandy Amoros banged a triple and a double off the right-field wall to drive in three runs tonight as the Brooklyn Dodgers returned to Ebbets Field and rang up their highest one-game run total of the season in an 8-4 victory over the New York Giants.

Sandy's double drove in the first of four fourth-inning runs that put the world champions in front to stay against starter-loser Ruben Gomez. His triple followed a pair of walks by reliefer Steve Ridzik in the fifth.

Young Roger Craig went all the way for the Brooks after a shaky start for his third victory against two defeats. He gave up a two-run homer to Ray Katt in the second that tied the score and two third-inning singles that led to an unearned run and a 3-2 Giant lead. Then he settled down and allowed only three hits the rest of the way for a six-hitter. He fanned eight.

Roy Campanella, returning to the lineup after a week's absence because of a charley horse, delivered a two-run single in the first to get the Dodgers started, then singled to open the big fourth, in which only two of the Brooklyn runs were earned.

Georgians Fill Last Bracket

Gravely, Sanders shot the front nine in 36 to hold a 2-up lead. Birdies at 10, 12, and 13 put him five up and he closed out the match at 14 with a par five.

Doug's afternoon scrap with Oehmig again found him 2-up at the turn thanks to a two-under-par 34. He went 3-up with a birdie three at 11, birdied 13 and 14 but so did Oehmig.

After they both parred 15 with fours, Sanders placed his tee shot on the right bank of the creek in front of 16 green from where he knocked his second six feet away and sank it for a birdie three to close out the match. Oehmig had reached the semis by trimming Buddy DeBardelaben, of Birmingham, 1-up.

The Miami Beach swinger has not been over par in a single round during the five days of play here. He is now 22 under for two qualifying rounds and four of his matches.

Blum's match with Dahlbender was expected to be a real thriller, but big Dolly was spraying his shots and only his fine putting kept the match alive to the 15th hole. Gene won Nos. 1 and 3 to take a 2-up lead, but the Macon stylist got going, winning four holes in a row before losing number eight to Dahlbender's par three.

On the back nine, Blum closed the door by getting birds at 13, 14 and 15. That was too rough for even Dahlbender to handle.

Blum saved his finest golf for the afternoon brush with Butler. Firing a 33 on the front nine to Art's 34, he held a 1-up lead. Arnold then collected three more birds on the six holes played on the back nine to end Butler's surprising run in the tournament.

Arnold was six-under par for the 15 holes played. He's 14 under for the tournament this far. Butler had gained his shot at Blum with a 4 and 3 victory over Jack Penrose.

Bobby Pierce, Atlanta junior champion, defeated Southern Golf Assn. president Mitt Jefford of Orangeburg, S.C., 5 and 4, and Sam Dixon of Birmingham, 2 and 1, to gain finals of the second division. His opponent Saturday will be James Starr of Atlanta, who won over Charles Cummings, Huntsville, Ala., by default, and John Grant Jr., Signal Mountain, Tenn., 1-up.

Skowron's Pinch Blow Earns Yanks 3-2 Win Over Orioles

Ford Defeats Luckless Palica

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Pinch-hitter Bill Skowron's bases-loaded single scored Joe Collins with the ninth-inning run tonight that gave the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Skowron's hit, a long fly that the drawn-in Baltimore outfield let fall safely, handed lefthander Whitey Ford his fifth straight victory without a loss and climaxed a night of frustration for Erv Palica and the luckless Orioles.

Ford was in constant trouble as he allowed 12 hits.

Palica, on the other hand, had allowed only three hits until Collins touched off the winning rally with a triple to right center with one out in the ninth. Palica was ordered to walk Elston Howard and pinch-hitter Eddie Robinson to load the bases.

But Skowron got around the strategy with a drive to center over the head of Chuck Diering, who was drawn in for a possible play at the plate.

Tribe, Rain Stop A's

CLEVELAND, May 11 (AP)—Jim Busby hit a two-run homer and the Cleveland Indians capitalized on wildness by two Kansas City pitchers to defeat the Athletics 4-1 tonight in a game that was called at the end of the fifth inning because of rain.

Joe DeMaestri, Kansas City shortstop, was kicked in the head by Bob Avila as DeMaestri slid into second base in the fourth. He was helped off the field and taken to Charity Hospital for X-rays.

The Athletics collected six hits off Mike Garcia, while the Indians were limited to four by starter Lou Kretlow and John Crimian. Art Ceccarelli and Bill Harrington held the Indians hitless for the final three innings.

The game was delayed 26 minutes because of rain at the conclusion of the first inning. At the end of the fifth the field was flooded by a thunderstorm and after a 40-minute delay the game was halted.

Senators Nip Bosox

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — Sharp relief pitching by Bob Chakales, who permitted only two hits in the last six innings, enabled Washington to beat Boston 4-3 tonight. Chakales pulled out of a rough predicament in the ninth when Billy Goodman tripled with one out. Billy Consolo, running for him, was stranded when Frank Malzone grounded out and Dick Gernert flied deep to Jim Lemon in right.

The Senators clipped starter Ike Delock for a run in the first inning on Pete Runnels' double and singles by Roy Sievers and Lemon, but the Red Sox tied it up in the second on singles by Jackie Jensen, Jim Piersall and Delock.

Boston moved in front 2-1 in the third when Gernert crashed his sixth homer into the left-field seats.

PLAY BETTER GOLF

—by Tommy Armour

IN A recent lesson dealing with the stance, I said that good footwork was the key to smoothness, timing, and balance of body action. The truth of this becomes evident as we realize that the generating action of a good backswing starts in the ball of the left foot and in the left knee. Merely to dip the left knee or pop it forward with not produce the desired turn. The left knee must be bent to the right so it points to a spot behind the ball. Meanwhile, the left heel comes off the ground only slightly, but there is a feeling that the ball of the left foot is "digging in." And through all this the head remains steady!

Touchberry Hurls Gators To SEC Title

UNIVERSITY, Miss., May 11. (AP)—Burt Touchberry hurled Florida to the Southeastern Conference baseball championship today with a 5-1 victory over Mississippi.

The game gave Florida the title, 2-0, in a best-of-three series pitting Eastern and Western Division champions.

Florida won the first game, 8-3, at Gainesville Wednesday.

Because Florida is under NCAA probation, Mississippi—as Western Division champion of the SEC—will represent District 3 in the NCAA playoff at Gastonia, N.C., June 1-4. The Mississippians voted after the championship game to go to the playoff.

Touchberry, untouchable in ticklish situations, fanned three and walked none in giving up six hits.

Mississippi's run came in the eighth inning when Billy Kinard doubled, moved to third on an infield out and came in on John Gainey's sacrifice fly.

An airtight Florida infield defense used two double plays—one in the fourth inning and another in the fifth—to kill Mississippi scoring threats.

Bobby Barnes' double in the third scored Jerry Bylik to open the Florida attack.

Three more runs scored in the fourth on Jerry Rawlings' single, two walks off Joe Gibbon, an infield out and an infield error.

Florida added an unearned run in the eighth off Buddy Wittichen.

Northside Favored In State Track Meet

Athens Could Capture Title With Two, Vidalia With One

By MICKEY LOGUE

If the season's best times tell the true story, Athens High could win the State All-Classification Track and Field championship with a two-man team at Grady Stadium Saturday afternoon.

And, though the possibility is indeed remote, Vidalia could take the top prize with a single entry.

These are only two reasons the crowns rest uneasily on the heads of Carrollton's defending kings, and favored Northside isn't installing another trophy rack until the meet-ending mile relay is run around the Grady oval.

One thing's certain—team and individual victory were never more closely related than in the Peach State showdown, previewing next Thursday's Georgia-Alabama meet at Grady.

Here's how the Athens pair could take it all:

Bobby Towns, whose :19.5 is the undisputed over-all Georgia prep record in the 180-yard low hurdles and whose :14.8 shares the highs standard, takes firsts in his specialties. Then Buddy Broadnax, owner of the state's finest half-mile clocking, 2:03.9, wins.

Result: Athens owns 15 points, two more than Carrollton's relayers needed to triumph last year.

And here's the case for Vidalia: Barring the unforeseen, James Brantley should capture the high jump with flying colors. His 6-foot, 3¼-inch leap is 2⅝ inches higher than the second best effort of Albany's John Hires.

Brantley's :14.8 gives him equal billing with Towns in the high hurdles. And his :20.3 gives him hope in the lows. Three firsts and they probably wouldn't know whether to inscribe the team award Vidalia or Brantley.

Nevertheless, Northside remains a solid team choice. Brannon Lesesne, AA champ in the 100 and 220-yard dashes; Ed Nutting, who has put the shot 55-1; George Marienthal, unbeaten in the 880, and a 1:32.8 band of relayers give Floyd Anderson's lads a 25-point potential.

And that's excluding hurdlers Willie Sanders and Don Kennedy.

Carrollton goes without sprinter Harvey Copeland who's sidelined with a pulled muscle. However, Hugh Maddox has Jimmy Morrow and Alan Wexler, stout contenders in the sprints. Hurdler Bill Davis subs for Copeland with the 880 baton swappers, and he was scheduled to run in Harvey's mile relay spot anyway.

Decatur's Ken Winn plans to avenge his only mile loss in high school competition. Winn, who put a 4:26.6 record in the book last week, suffered his lone defeat in the All-Class last year to Dick Balte of Southwest DeKalb's 4:45.4 time.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS
2:30—All Field events; 3 p.m.—880 relay; 3:10 — mile run; 3:20 — 440; 3:35—100; 3:40—high hurdles; 3:50—880; 4:00—220; 4:10 — low hurdles; 4:20—mile relay.

O'Keefe broad jumper Wilbur Dover is the only individual champion returning. Towns edged Brantley for second in the low hurdles last year, and Nutting was third in the shot.

Ike Powell of Cairo, second in the '55 quarter-mile, should find his stiffest competitor Coffee County's Benny Overstreet, a :51.1 440-man, and a 10 flat century speedster.

Top three performers in each event will represent Georgia against Alabama's best here Thursday.

Jacket Frosh Top Georgia; Blemker Stars

The Georgia Tech freshmen got Buddy Blemker a run in the first inning at Rose Bowl Field Friday and Blemker used it to fashion a 1-0 victory over Georgia's Bullpups and Al Helfer Jr.

Catcher Don Fetzer sent Doug Veazey scurrying home from second base with a first-frame single, and that was all the scoring. Veazey had singled and moved up on Robbie Neely's sacrifice.

Blemker gave up four hits, the same number Tech got off Helfer. He struck out eight men to Helfer's seven, but Helfer walked three men and hit two while Blemker surrendered no walks and no hits.

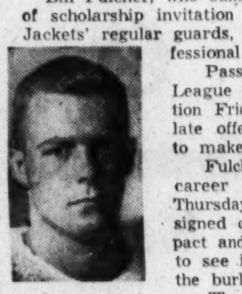

Elwyn (Smoky) Stover pasted a couple of singles, the only safeties the Baby Jackets managed after the first inning.

TECH'S BILL FULCHER ACCEPTS REDSKIN BID

Bill Fulcher, who came to Georgia Tech without benefit of scholarship invitation and won a place as one of the Jackets' regular guards, is going to try to make the professional grade the same way.

Bill Fulcher

Passed up in the National Football League draft, Fulcher told The Constitution Friday he was planning to accept a late offer from the Washington Redskins to make their team this summer.

Fulcher, who finished his amateur career with Tech's last baseball game Thursday, said he planned to return his signed contract Monday. It is a no-bonus pact and Fulcher reported he was anxious to see if he could make a go of it with the burly pros.

The blond Augustan weighed in at 181 for the Jackets this fall and will be used as a linebacker with the Redskins, who utilized comparative lightweights at that position successfully last season. Fulcher has the speed to do well and weight is the big problem. After a special brace was designed for his shoulder, he had little trouble with the chronic injury.

Fulcher said the contact with the Redskins came from Washington end Coach Joe Tereshinksi in a query to Tech assistant Lew Woodruff about potential pros who may have been overlooked in the draft. Woodruff and Tereshinksi both played at Georgia.

Vereen and Berman Chase Records Today

Big Carl Vereen and equally hefty Fred Berman will continue their assault on Grant Field and Georgia Tech school records here Saturday when they lead the Jackets against Coach Red Drew's University of Alabama track and field warriors.

OTHER SEC EVENTS TODAY
BASEBALL
Kentucky at Eastern Kentucky.
Middle Tennessee at Vanderbilt.
GOLF
Georgia Tech at Auburn.

The meet, Tech's last dual affair of the season, will get under way at 1:30 with the field events. First track test starts promptly at 2 p.m.

As usual, Vereen will be after another record-breaking toss of the discus, while Berman will be out to improve his school and field mark in the shot put. Both may succeed. They are head and shoulders above anyone in the South and will be candidates for national honors in both the National Collegiate and AAU meets in June. Vereen's best is 175-5¼, while Fred's top toss is 55-4¾.

Before that they will go after Southeastern Conference marks in the annual SEC meet in Birmingham, Ala., May 18 and 19 and in the big Georgia AAU meet here at Grant Field May 26.

Coach Norris Dean will be without the services of Jacket captain Dick Devane, who is out with a virus infection. Devane is the team's mainstay in the 880 and a member of the mile relay team.

Alabama's big stars are Bob Hyde, who has leaped 6-5 in the high jump this year; Jim Christman, 4:27.5 miler; Tom Danner, discus, John Abell, low hurdles and Dewell Crumpton, :14.9 high hurdler.

University of Georgia will invade Knoxville Saturday for a go with the Tennessee Vols. Spec Towns' Bulldogs will be strong favorites despite Tennessee's strength in the distance races.

McCallie 880 Relay Team Sets Mark in Mid-South

McCallie School's 880-yard relayers smashed a 15-year-old meet record as the Mid-South track and field championships got under way at Emory University Friday afternoon.

Atlantan Steve Hendricks, wearing the colors of Georgia Military Academy, sailed the college-weight discus 127' 3" for a first place in his specialty.

Finals were held in the shot put, javelin and broad jump as well as the 880 relay and discus Friday afternoon.

Preliminaries were run in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes and half mile. Finals in these events, plus the high jump, pole vault, mile and mile relay will be held Saturday. Field events start at 12:30, running at 1.

Bahama Wins 22nd Straight

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 11 (AP) — Yama Bahama, a young man who fights like he's one big mainspring made Hardy Smallwood the victim of his flashy left hand tonight as he won his 22nd straight with a 10-round decision in their nationally televised fight. Bahama weighed 152½, Smallwood 156.

There were no knockdowns.

The decision was unanimous with Referee Barney Felix's card reading 7-2-1. Judge Fazio had it 6-4 and Paul Cummins scored it 5-4-1. The Associated Press had Bahama the winner 8-1-1.

Smallwood made it a fight, charging in with both hands moving at the body. Once, he charged so hard his lunge took him flat on the canvas on his tummy with a thud.

Bahama was content to box his opponent and he boxed masterfully. He was fleet of hand and foot and frequently caught Smallwood with the left as Hardy was on the way past on one of his lunges.

Cox Shocks Gator, But Greenies Repeat

Tech Shoots for Second With Four Finalists Today

By LARRY FOX

Charles Cox, one of Georgia Tech's two giant juniors, pulled the surprise of the day, but Tulane's too-talented Greenies managed to wrap up still another Southeastern Conference tennis championship Friday at the Bitsy Grant Center.

With Saturday's finals still to come, Tulane was assured of its 13th outright championship in the 18 years an SEC tournament or its equivalent has been held. The Green Wave shared the title in 1951 and has won it alone every year since.

Tulane nabbed the title shortly after 7 p.m. without swinging a racket when Vanderbilt's Bob Surman and Mahan Siler eliminated Tech's Cox and Lee Jones in the semifinals of the No. 1 doubles that cost the Jackets their last chance to catch the leaders.

Tech has second place virtually sewed up. The Jackets have 19 points to Florida's 17, but the Gators have only two entries left, while Tech has four. Tulane has 24 points with a whopping seven entries fighting for titles.

Leading Tulane's heavy entry into the finals was Jose Aguere, favored to give Tulane its fifth straight singles championship. He ousted Mississippi State's George Trava, 6-1, 6-2, and faces Florida's Dick Leslie Saturday at 1 p.m. Leslie, a chatterbox sophomore from Park Ridge, Ill., survived a 2:05 marathon with Siler, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3.

Tech moved into second place on a shocking upset by Cox, a gangly 6-4 Atlantan with a rocket serve. Playing in the No. 2 singles bracket, Cox rallied from a crushing first-set loss to oust Florida's burly Bob Czerwonky, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4, in the semifinals.

Czerwonky, second-seeded in the division, had not lost to an SEC opponent all year and had beaten Cox twice in straight sets during the season. Cox was fourth-seeded.

Turning to doubles, where he teamed with Jones, also a lanky 6-4, for Tech's No. 1 entry, Cox continued his gruelling day. In the first round, the unseeded Tech pair downed Glenn Dorroh and Randolph Sexton of Kentucky, 6-2, 6-4.

Then, in the quarter-finals, the Jacket tandem rallied to oust fourth-seeded Trava and Wilfred Walker of Mississippi State, 2-6, 8-6, 6-3. Starting their semifinal match late, the Jackets again went into extra sessions before losing to second-ranked Siler and Surman, 11-9, 1-6, 8-6. Jones, like Cox, made the finals in singles. He is top-ranked in the No. 4. Tech's other singles finalist is top-seeded Mike Mehaffy in No. 5.

Only non-seeded player to reach the finals in any division was Georgia's Fred Dean. Dean Thursday shocked top-seeded Steve Marshall of Florida in the No. 6 bracket and Friday did the same to fourth-ranked Ed Graham of Mississippi State, 6-3, 6-1.

The freshman division finds three native Atlantans filling the four finals brackets. In No. 1, "outsider" Ron Holmberg of Tulane faces unseeded Lindsey Hopkins of Georgia. In No. 2, it's Crawford Henry of Tulane against Alfred Thompson of Georgia. Hopkins, who surprised second-seeded Tommy Robinson of LSU Thursday, whipped third-ranked Paul Metz of Tech, 6-2, 6-1, to avenge a regular-season loss.

Strong Field Tackles 'Sweikert Test' Sunday

Hinnershitz, Sachs, Cleeburg Lead Opposition at Lakewood

By AL THOMY

"Gentlemen, start your engines."

Indianapolis-type sprint cars return to Atlanta and Lakewood Sunday afternoon for a seven-event program that includes a 25-lap feature. Time trials get under way at 1:30, races at 3.

The field is headed, naturally, by Bob Sweikert, 1955's Indianapolis 500 champion. But Sweikert is expected to find his hands full in such opposition as Tommy Hinnershitz, five-time Eastern dirt track champion; Eddie Sachs, a top-ranked mid-western driver; Bob Cleeburg, a real dirt track leader who beat six Offenhausers on his first banked track run.

Dick Rathman, who drives one of Lindsey Hopkins' cars in the Indianapolis run Memorial Day, is entered in a Traylor Offenhauser.

Should Sunday's turnout exceed that of March 5 (late model stock program), the driver's purse here will be the largest ever given for a sprint program. There's $5,500 guarantee for the United States Auto Club drivers in the field, but this is against 40 per cent of the gate.

For the drivers, this is a program that pays from the very beginning of the time trials. Best times posted bring a reward in the trials, $1,850 in all, starting with $100 for the best time.

Most of the drivers go from here to the qualifying rounds of the '500' next week at Indianapolis. Sweikert plans to qualify on May 19th, then take part in another race on the 20th.

Sweikert recently set a new lap standard of 143.839 for the Speedway, but he expects a reading of 145-plus to gain the pole position.

Promoter George Marshman had expected Marv Pifer in the field here, but Pifer was seriously injured in a track accident at Indianapolis Thursday. Duane Carter, field director of USAC, informed Marshman that Pifer's condition was "better" Friday, and he is expected to recover.

Following is Sunday's field, driver, hometown and car:

Bob Sweikert, Indianapolis, D. and A. Lubricant spl.; Eddie Sachs, Indianapolis, Cheesman Offenhauser; Rex Eston, Springfield, Ill., Hynaman Offenhauser; Bob Vieth, Oakland, Calif., Travelon Trailer Spl.; Don Branson, Urbana, Ill., Hoover Mtrs. Manager Clyde King will rely on Terry Fox (2-4) to stretch the Crackers' longest winning streak of the year at Poncey to four Saturday night. Bill Dailey, hailed as one of the brightest pitching prospects he's seen by White, will try to improve his 3-1 record for the Bears.

DUKE'S SIME BETTERS SECOND WORLD TRACK MARK IN WEEK

DURHAM, N.C., May 11 (AP) — Dave Sime, Duke's sensational speedster, bettered the world's record in the 220-yard dash and broke three Atlantic Coast Conference track meet records today in a dazzling performance.

Sime, a red-haired sophomore from Fair Lawn, N.J., was clocked by four watches at 20.1 seconds in the 220 to top the world's record set in May 7, 1949, by Mel Patton of Southern California.

His time must be approved by the Amateur Athletic Union before it can be recognized as a new world record.

The muscular youth, a bright Olympic prospect, set new conference meet records in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard low hurdles and the 220-yard dash.

Sime said, "I got off to a good start and let off some at the end."

Sime stepped the 100 in 9.5 seconds and was clocked at 23.5 in the low hurdles. Only last Saturday he set a world's record in the same hurdles event with 22.2, topping the old mark held by Harrison Dillard.

Maryland coach Jim Kehoe said he believes Sime can run the 220-yard dash in less than 20 seconds.

"He's fantastic," Kehoe said, marveling at the youth. "He's going to be a very bright star on our track horizon. He's simply great. Potentially, he could be the greatest runner of all time. I'd like to get hold of a runner like that before I die."

Sime was fully 20 yards ahead of the other runners in the 220-yard heat in which he cracked the world's record.

The old conference record for the 220 was 21.5 set last year by Tommy Woodlee of South Carolina. Woodlee also held the record for the 100 with 9.9 set in 1954 and equalled last year. The old low hurdles record for the conference was :23.6 set by Duke's Joel Shankle last year.

Travelers Top Vols, 10-8 Barons Beat Pelicans, 6-2;

Compiled from Constitution Sports

A "knothole gang night" crowd of 8,689 was treated to two late outbursts of fisticuffs as homestanding Chattanooga kayoed Memphis, 10-2, Friday night.

In other Southern Assn. games, Birmingham beat New Orleans, 6-2, and Little Rock downed Nashville, 10-8.

Both teams' benches emptied onto the field in a wild free-for-all in the eighth inning at Chattanooga. The fight lasted about five minutes before police, umpires and some of the players who weren't involved stopped it. Another short skirmish followed in the ninth.

The scrap began when starting Memphis pitcher Junior Wren, who'd just been knocked out of the box, began yelling at Lookout manager Cal Ermer, witnesses said.

None of the players, however, was ordered out of the game and play was soon resumed.

IN OUR CHURCHES: Services To Pay Tribute to Mothers

By KAY McLEOD

Across the nation Sunday Mom will be "Queen for a Day."

Many an industrious father, with the help of his offspring, will serve the traditional Mother's Day treat — breakfast in bed.

Rev. R. E. Lee

After her "regal meal," many a mom may be surprised with a gift and/or a corsage.

Then many, many of the nation's mothers will gather their broods and go to the local churches for worship.

There, surrounded by other mothers and their families, she will hear words of praise and challenge directed to her.

Atlanta pastors, almost without exception, will devote morning or evening worship services to a tribute to Mother.

Dr. Charles L. Allen at Grace Methodist Church will cite as his criteria for the model mother "The Second Greatest Mother in the Bible." The Rev. Jacob MacKorrell of Hapeville Presbyterian Church will speak of "Mary, the Mother of Jesus."

At Inman Park Presbyterian Church the Rev. Stanford Parnell will present "A Portrait of a Good Mother." Mothers will be called "Vessels of Faith" by Dr. Z. E. Barron at Cascade Baptist Church.

The eldest and youngest mothers at Wee Kirk Presbyterian Church will receive special gifts.

An altar decked with red and white flowers will provide the background for tributes to Mother at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. The Rev. Robert E. Lee will ask the challenging question, "What Makes a Christian Family?"

Women Honored

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Haygood Memorial will honor all new feminine members who have joined the church during the past year at 10:30 Monday morning.

Officers for the coming year will be installed by the Rev. E. D. Rudisill. They are Mrs. Spence Brooks, president; Mrs. C. B. Sandiford, first vice president; Mrs. Stedman Glisson, second vice president; Mrs. J. L. Stallworth, recording secretary; Mrs. Louis Williams, promotion secretary, and Mrs. R. O. Loomis, treasurer.

On May 10, 1925, which was also Mother's Day, the first meeting of the congregation was held at the Atlanta Woman's Club. First services at the present location at 1580 Peachtree St. were held on Easter, 1926.

St. Paul Methodist Church has designated the entire month of May as a time of renewal of the "Holy Habits of Christian Living."

Billy Graham

Christians Show Love For Others

QUESTION: A friend of mine told me there is a verse in the Bible which describes a Christian but neither of us can find it. Which one is it?—T. O. R.

ANSWER: There are so many verses which might describe a Christian I am not sure which one you refer to. In his letter to the Phillipian Christians, Paul wrote: "That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world; holding forth the Word of life."

There are many wonderful truths in this passage but I would like to urge upon you this particular thought. Christians are in this world and must exercise their influence for Christ, but they are citizens of heaven and should live as God's children should live.

When we let the things of the world crowd in on our hearts and into our lives, we lose our witness for Christ and people see little in us to make them want to be Christians.

But if we show clearly by the things we say (and don't say), and the things we do (and don't do), that our standards are Christ's standards and that we are trying to please Him, we can make Christianity attractive to others.

Actually, our witness is strongest when we show love and concern for the spiritual and material welfare of others. Don't be a "goody-goody," but a normal, wholesome, lovable person. Don't be ashamed to let people know you are a Christian. If you do this, you will carry out the principles described in the Bible verse quoted above.

Hear Mrs. Carpenter

Mrs. C. W. Carpenter will address a meeting of the St. Matthew Lutheran United Church Women at 8 p.m. Monday. The regular monthly gathering will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Jentzen of 2715 La Vista Rd., NE.

Stocks Rebound But Close Mixed

Prices Spread in $2 Range As 497 Issues Push Ahead

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—The stock market today built up strong resistance to a decline, on the heels of yesterday's sharp fall, and managed to close with a steady tone.

Prices were mixed over a range of around 2 points either way with most major divisions showing a wide mixture of gains and losses.

Yesterday's market suffered one of the year's greatest drops, and the decline continued today at the opening. Overnight orders were to sell, and buyers took in the offerings at reduced prices.

Timid holders soon disposed of their stocks, however, and prices began to mount as resistance to selling increased. In the late afternoon the market was slightly higher on balance but final selling put prices back below their best.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at $187.90. Mixed nature of the situation was shown by the advance of 30 cents in the industrial component, a decline of 20 cents in rails and a gain of 10 cents in utilities.

American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 950,000 shares as compared with 1,140,000 yesterday. Corporate bonds were lower. U.S. Governments were mixed.

BUSINESS ROUNDUP

Booming Dixie Termed Short in Mart Research

By JIM MONTGOMERY

The South, despite its already phenomenal industrial and economic growth, is still deficient in market research and new product promotion, an Atlanta magazine publisher declared here Friday.

H. McKinley Conway Jr., who is also research director for the Southern Assn. of Science and Industry, told the seventh annual Atlanta Advertising Institute these gaps constitute a great opportunity for the Southern advertising profession.

And with more than 3,000 new plants likely to be added to this region over the next 10 years, he said, it's certain "Southern industry is going to have a great deal to talk about."

Each of these new plants, Conway added, "represents an economic H-bomb. Each . . . will have an explosive effect on local markets."

He told the 200 advertising men and women here from eight Southern states to be optimistic rather than surprised over this "phenomenon of growth," noting that the United States is adding the equivalent of the City of Atlanta to its population every two months.

The two-day institute, featuring 22 nationally known speakers, will conclude Saturday night.

Ford, GM Slow Pace

The Atlanta Ford assembly plant observed a one-day shutdown Friday "to keep dealer stocks in line with the seasonally fluctuating market," a company spokesman revealed.

Ward's Automotive Reports said 10 of the 15 Ford Division car assembly units across the country were closed for the day.

All General Motors assembly plants also were to halt production for a day, either on Friday (as did the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant in Doraville) or Monday (when the Chevrolet-Fisher Body operation in Atlanta will be closed).

Dixie Jobs at Record

Non-farm employment in the eight Southeastern states set a March record with 6,342,600 workers on regional payrolls, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Friday.

Southern regional BLS director Brunswick A. Bagdon said this figure was 14,300 above that of February, and 191,200 over the year-ago level.

A five-cent increase in the average hourly earnings of the region's factory production workers, he said, reflected wage rate increases resulting directly or indirectly from the new $1 minimum wage law.

Savings-Loan Boom

The president of the United States Savings and Loan League predicted in Augusta Friday that the nation's savings and loan business, which now has $40 billion in assets, will more than double in size in the next decade.

Speaking at the 31st annual convention of the Georgia Savings and Loan League there, Walter H. Dreier added that the annual rate of growth in the savings and loan business has climbed from $1.5 billion in 1946 to $5 billion last year.

Must Keep Trains

By a 3-2 vote of the Georgia Public Service Commission Friday, the Southern Railway Co. was refused permission to discontinue its passenger trains 26 and 27 between Macon and Brunswick.

The two trains are the only daytime service offered by Southern between the two cities, and the only passenger trains serving 12 intermediate points.

The railroad testified at a hearing last November that it lost $99,371 on operation of the trains in the year ended July 1955. Southern said a study made in May 1955, showed an average of 31.2 and 20.6 passengers per trip on the northbound and southbound runs, respectively.

2nd Indictment Here in Liquor Inventory Case

Another indictment was returned Friday against an Atlanta wholesale liquor firm which has been charged with giving a false report last year to State Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams on the amount of liquor it had on hand.

The Fulton grand jury returned an indictment against the National Distributing Co., Inc., of 450 Marietta St., NW, charging the corporation with attempting to evade and evading" payment of $35,467.50 in warehouse charges on liquor.

The indictment was returned in connection with inventory reports filed by the firm last July 1 regarding the amount of liquor it had on hand subject to a new $1.25 per gallon increase in warehouse charges.

The firm and its president, Chris Carlos, previously had been indicted on felony charges of false swearing in connection with the inventory report.

Atlantan Indicted In Fatal Shooting In His Front Yard

• The Fulton grand jury returned a true-bill of murder Friday against a Southside Atlanta white man charged with the fatal shooting of a Negro. The indictment made the charge against Lorenzo R. Taylor, 37, of 330 Crew St., SW, in connection with the May 6 shooting of Rodell Hightower, 26, of 316½ Old Wheat St., NE.

Taylor told police he fired two shots after Hightower and several other Negroes had chased a Negro identified as William Dawson, 50, of 83 Richmond St., SE, into Taylor's front yard and one of them threatened Dawson's life, officers said.

Dawson and several white witnesses agreed with this version of the shooting, police said, but the other Negroes involved said Taylor fired after telling them to "cut out their hollering."

Cook Asks Tax Use In States Rights Fight

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook Friday night urged the spending of Georgia tax funds in a propaganda fight with foes of segregation.

At the same time, state officials made personal calls on their employes urging them to join the States Rights Council—a private organization—and contribute money to it. These officials made it clear to employes, protected by the Merit System, that they were not to consider the requests as any pressure.

Atty. Gen. Cook has spent much time in recent months traveling over the South organizing Citizens' Councils or States' Rights Council.

He declared Friday that these private local organizations could not raise sufficient funds to win the propaganda battle with NAACP and Communist and left-wing followers who have an "inexhaustible supply of funds."

Speaking at an organizational meeting of a Citizens Council at Chattahoochee, Fla., Cook advocated all states under attack from these organizations to appropriate tax funds "to counteract the efforts of these groups."

"Some lawyers contend that most or all states have state Constitutional prohibitions against such appropriations," Cook said. "On this point, I cannot agree. I can see no difference in spending tax money for legitimate defensive propaganda purposes and in spending such funds for defensive litigation purposes such as we now are compelled to do."

Cook's own time in organizing these private clubs over the South is state-financed, since he hasn't obtained a leave of absence as attorney general. Whether the state is paying traveling expenses for these trips, too, was not known. The state auditor said no check had been made on expense accounts.

SBA Lauds Dixie Bank Aid in Loans

The Small Business Administration's number two official Friday credited the "splendid cooperation" of Atlanta's and other Southeastern banks with boosting the agency's bank participation loan activity in this region some 13 per cent above the national average.

Donald A. Hipkins, deputy national SBA administrator, made the remark while in Atlanta attending a meeting of the agency's Region 5 Advisory Board. He said bank participation loans constitute 80 per cent of SBA's loans in the Southeast, while the national average is some 66⅔ per cent.

Others speaking during all-day sessions at both the First National Bank and the Fulton National included James F. Hollingsworth, regional SBA director; Roy E. Cawhern, Robert E. McAfee and Elmer E. Cummins, all of the agency's regional staff; Dr. L. B. Raisty, vice president of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank.

H. P. Fleming, president of Macon's First National Bank & Trust Co.; Henry C. Coleman, president of the Daytona Beach Commercial Bank; Ben W. White, owner of a Ft. Payne, Ala., implement firm; Erle Cocke, vice chairman of the Fulton National Bank board; William V. Crowley, president, and Gordon Jones, executive vice president, Fulton National Bank; Edward D. Smith, president, and Herman Jones Jr., executive vice president, First National Bank.

Some 30 members of the advisory board—all prominent in banking and business circles—attended the meeting. Represented were five Southeastern states and Puerto Rico.

DeKalb Voting Closes 8 Schools Here Wednesday

Eight Atlanta schools in the DeKalb portion of the city will be closed Wednesday when DeKalb citizens hold a referendum on a multiple commission form of government.

City Attorney Jack Savage ruled that the schools are to stay closed under a new law that requires all Atlanta and Fulton schools to shut down for elections. Other DeKalb and Decatur schools are not affected.

Students will have a holiday at Murphy High School, Mary Lin, Burgess, Gordon, Whitefoord, East Lake, Kirkwood and Wesley Elementary Schools.

CITY HALL NEWS

2 Atlantans Head U.S., Ga. Groups

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Two city division chiefs — Waterworks Manager Paul Weir and Purchasing Agent Ernest Brewer—are presidents of their respective organizations.

Weir was installed late Thursday as president of the American Waterworks Assn. at the 76th annual convention in St. Louis.

Brewer has just been elected president of the Purchasing Agents' Assn. of Georgia meeting in Atlanta.

Weir has been affiliated with the water department for 28 years and has been manager of the department since 1947. He is recognized as one of the nation's leading waterworks administrators. Brewer succeeds retiring President B. F. Lamb, purchasing agent for the American Bakeries Co.

Other officers of the Georgia buyers in addition to Brewer are V. P. Ken Halverson and J. T. McDonald, first and second vice presidents, respectively; and Arden C. Taylor, treasurer. Mrs. Marie Sayne was reelected secretary.

Weir and Ald. James E. Jackson, who represented Atlanta, at the St. Louis ceremonies, will be back at their desks Monday. Jackson is the veteran chairman of the aldermanic board's water committee.

Pools To Open

Parks Manager George Simons said Friday everything is being readied for the season's biggest splash at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 2, when 14 city-owned and operated swimming pools are scheduled to be opened for the summer.

After the opening day, pools will open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 10:30 p.m., except Sundays when they will open at 2 p.m. and close at 10 p.m. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free daily until noon. After that hour all entrants must pay.

Simons said he expects the latest of the city's modern version of the old swimming hole to be opened along with 13 others. The newest facility was built by DeKalb County on Wilkerson drive, SE, between Glenwood avenue and Memorial drive near the new Murphy High School.

Other white pools will be operated at Grant, Piedmont, Oakland City, Candler, South Bend, White, Adair, Chastain, Garden Hills and Maddox parks.

Three pools for Negroes will be open at Washington, Mozley and Pittman parks.

Simons said personnel to man the pools is being recruited and that life savers are now in training.

Health Approval

All outdoor swimming pools must be approved by the city health officials and must be fenced in the future, if an ordinance proposed by Ald. T. Wayne Blanchard is approved. Blanchard said health approval of plans would insure proper drainage from a health standpoint, and that fencing would prevent a mishap similar to one he heard about recently in Dallas, where two children drowned when they fell into a private swimming pool.

Mayor To Return

Mayor Hartsfield is due back at his desk Monday after several days of fishing off Miami. . . . Mrs. Ruth Satterfield, personnel director for Atlanta schools, is on a teacher recruiting tour of Florida Universities. Last month she visited schools in the Carolinas and signed up several new prospects.

Plan To Cut Forest Fires Given Boost

A program to cut forest fires by 10 per cent within two years received a boost Friday when C. Otto Lindh, Atlanta regional forester for the U.S. Forest Service, offered staff help to get the program under way.

Lindh offered to appoint a specialist to his staff to work with state and private forestry groups in a forest fire prevention movement suggested at the recent New Orleans meeting of the Southern Forest Fire Prevention Conference.

The SFFPC program calls for the formation of an advisory council with an honorary chairman and secretary to support any action of a regional nature that will serve to prevent forest fires in the South.

Mrs. Cook left some $6,000 in individual bequests and directed that the residue of her estate after deduction of other expenses be divided as follows: One-third to the Georgia Baptist Hospital, one-third to Providence Baptist Church, Roswell, and one-third to the Georgia Baptist Children's Home, Hapeville. GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

Altamaha Project Sponsors Cheered

The Altamaha River Development Assn. was told Friday the degree of its efforts will be a major factor in obtaining approval of a multi-million-dollar system of dams and locks along the river.

Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn), chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors subcommittee, lauded the leadership the association has shown and predicted eventual realization of the goals.

Some 650 persons from the 22 counties along the river and its tributaries met with eight members of the House who came to Brunswick to inspect the development proposals.

Two Georgia Congressmen, Reps. Iris Blitch and Prince Preston whose districts lie on either side of the river, pledged their support.

Col. T. F. Rogers, district Army engineer, said an appropriation has not been made to determine the economic feasibility of the project in the light of current industrial growth and emphasis on water conservation. The study would cost an estimated $75,000.

A 1950 survey by the Engineers envisioned major dams on the Altamaha at Goose Creek, where the Lane's Bridge crosses between Baxley and Glenville; on the Ocmulgee at Cooper's Bay, north of Douglas; and at Abbeville, just north of U.S. Highway 280; and on the Oconee at Laurens Shoals, above Milledgeville. Navigational locks would enable river vessels to reach Macon.

Quaker Oats V-P Here Rips Freight Rates

By BOB WILLIMON

A top official of one of the world's largest cereal milling firms blasted rail freight rates on grain and grain products in the South as "extraordinarily high and ridiculous" here Friday.

John R. Staley, vice president of the Quaker Oats Co., which has three Southern plants and proposes others, said the "discriminatorily excessive rates are a burden which must and is being passed along to the farmers and other consumers."

ICC HEARINGS HERE

Staley's remarks were made privately during the course of third-day ICC hearings in connection with alleged discriminatory rail freight rates on grain shipments within and to-and-from the South.

Friday's hearings saw attorneys representing around 250 railroads doggedly attempt to discredit some 40 exhibits introduced Thursday by Clarence H. Noah.

Noah is traffic director of the North Carolina Utilities Commission and a principal witness for the officially complaining Southeastern Assn. of State Public Service Commissioners and the Southern Governors' Conference.

SANTE FE COUNSEL

Sparking the attack for the rail interests was James M. Souby, general and commerce counsel of the Atcheson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway. Souby also is representing 19 other major Western systems and "30 or 40" smaller railroads.

Souby spent most of his time cross-examining Noah in an apparent attempt to nail down specific facts pertaining to grain shipments within and between the South and the West as alleged in the exhibits.

DeKalb's Williams Denies 'Betrayal of Trust' Charges

Attorney William G. McRae charged DeKalb Commissioner Wheat Williams with "betrayal of public trust" by using his office to improve the value of his real estate subdivisions.

McRae told some 60 persons attending a meeting Friday night sponsored by the DeKalb League for Good Government that Williams ordered the paving of 2,640 feet on Johns road to a 32-acre tract Williams' real estate company bought last summer.

McRae also charged Williams with ordering the construction of 2.1 miles of water mains to serve an area that had only eight houses. McRae said the water mains were to serve another of Williams' subdivisions.

Denying the charges, Williams said Johns road had been paved before he took office.

"Any improvements that might have been done during 1955 were made under the direction of Ed Clements, then head of the Public Works Department, without my knowledge," Williams said.

"During 1955 dozens of roads were repaired and even resealed. I did not place Johns road on any list for repairs or resealing."

On the water mains charge, Williams said, "I have no interest in any subdivision in DeKalb County and I have never had."

There's Fun, Complications In Smith Play 'Act Your Age'

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Smith High seniors find there's a whirl of fun and more than a few complications when they heed the advice to "Act Your Age."

Students, parents and the general public will share the laughs when the senior class presents its production of "Act Your Age" Saturday at 7:45 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The promise of fun for all is seen when Angy and Jerry begin corresponding with a pair of lonesome sailors. In a spirit of patriotism, the two 14-year-olds convey to the Navy men the impression they are much older—just to make it more interesting.

When the girls learn the sailors, Gadget and Jim, are coming for a visit, they don grown-up clothes to keep up the pretense.

To teach the girls a lesson, Aunt Sandra transforms into a young "brat" and proceeds to make a holy terror of herself. Then the fun is just beginning!

The seniors have been at work on their production since early April, under the direction of Miss Anne Holbrook, assisted by Mrs. Chris M. Street, with Miss Alice Griffin in charge of stage settings and properties.

The cast includes Betty Sue Burrell, Jackie Hunter, Gail Wright, Robert Barrett, Jerry Naddra, Donald Bulloch, Margaret English, Carole Hargett and Nathan McCannon.

Seniors helping with the props include Roberta Smevog, Bobbie Brookshire and Paula Smevog.

With vacations coming up for Atlanta's teen-agers, Teen Type, too, will take a leave of absence for the next three months.

In September, this column will resume reports of student activities.

Congratulations to members of the graduating classes of all our high schools, and best of luck to them.

Cotton Coats in Fashion Headlines

The cotton coat has made fashion headlines for the last two years but this season I think it's really going to town, if I may use that expression.

Actually cotton coats run the entire fashion gamut—from the Balenciaga ribbed cottons, through the cotton tweeds, to the slubbed cottons that look like raw silk. The coats themselves include all the key fashions—the Empire, the slim column, and the coat with controlled fullness.

Dull Tasks Kill Child's Incentive

How much work do you let your child do around the house? Did you make work seem interesting? Do you ever explain what you are doing and why you do it as you do?

Or do you wonder, as do many parents, why Willy never will do anything or why, if he does consent to help, he never finishes the job?

Parents have a way of letting children do the dull household tasks, such as making beds, and saving for themselves the creative ones, such as tossing up a beautiful salad, mixing a batch of pink paint, or even applying the paint.

Often our motto seems to be, "If there's fun to be had, we'll take the job." About the rest we beef, saying, "Haven't you made your bed yet?" or "When are you going to put out that garbage?" If forced to make the beds or throw out the garbage ourselves, we sometimes do so with sour looks that reveal only too well how menial a duty we think this is.

JOY IN WORK

In short, contends Jerome Count, director of the Shaker Village Work camp, where hundreds of parents petition for enrollment of adolescent sons and daughters so they may learn joy in honest work, we exploit the child rather than the situation.

Small children love to help around the house. They beg for wisps of work. Because beds and garbage are easy, safe, and require no explanation, we make them a required chore. When the child loses interest in them, we apply pressure. As we apply pressure, resistance is set up, not only toward the mother but toward work in general.

Where has the mother failed?

LOSES INTEREST

Mr. Count believes that when children begin to resist routine jobs at home, it is a sign that (1) mummy does not enlist them in work that is equal to their growing capabilities or (2) the work may be too far beyond their ability. Left only to routine or hard work, children react just as parents—they become discouraged or bored.

When tired, in a hurry, or involved in something intricate, parents usually shoo Willy aside. He is eager and clumsy and inept. Rebuffed enough, he will lose his eagerness, but he may not only retain his clumsiness and ineptitude, because never trained otherwise, but feels inept, which is fatal.

Too often the child is made a "helper" rather than a partner. He is given the privilege of handing daddy the hammer, nails, and other tools, of handing mother the eggbeater and spoons, of running up two flight of stairs to get a needle or scissors.

While this may interest him when small, it quickly palls. He wants to do, not watch. When finally given a chance to participate, he may make an error—hammer the nail in crooked, splash the egg on the floor—and be scolded for his clumsiness. When he gives up, his parents say he "doesn't like to work."

SUGGESTIONS

Mr. Count makes these suggestions: Scale the work to the child's ability. Remember that his span of attention is short and help in the final clean-up job. Stop paying money for the performance of chores; no child will expect money from his parents for a job that commands his interest and challenges his skill and ingenuity.

Get him interested in craftsmanship—doing as well as possible, whether in carpentry or ironing. Instead of criticizing poor workmanship, demonstrate better techniques and explain the reasons for them.

A Rhyme a Day

"Live every day richly, happily." — (The distinguished and beloved Dr. Walter C. Alvarez.)

Man is eternally distressed . . . because he's always "to be blessed" . . . I quote from Alexander Pope . . . who's in a better land, I hope . . . but what I really want to say . . . is, that we ought to live today . . . enjoying all the small affairs . . . of life, forgetful of the cares . . . and fears that we may not succeed . . . but, do we do it? No indeed.

The "have its" and the "have-it-nots" . . . are discontented with their lots . . . the "have its" want a little more . . . the "have-it-nots" are always sore . . . because the fates have been unkind . . . and they are always months behind . . . with flocks of bills they ought to pay . . . but hoping for a better day.

The "star-crossed" lovers look ahead . . . when they'll be comfortably wed . . . and then look forward to the days . . . when they'll have little ones to raise . . . for happiness is like the spark . . . the fireflies carry in the dark . . . which we pursue, to find that each . . . is just a bit beyond our reach.

Well, there you have the proper dope . . . prescribed by Alexander Pope . . . and if you don't like what he "sez" . . . I give you Doctor Alvarez.

Pesterfield Charges Plot By Foe and Constitution

By The Associated Press

SUMMERVILLE, May 11 (AP)—Mayor E. C. Pesterfield, who is running for the State Senate against Summerville attorney Bobby Lee Cook in a May 23 Democratic primary, has charged The Atlanta Constitution, an Atlanta detective and Cook with a "conspiracy to manufacture a crime."

Pesterfield charged in a statement yesterday prompted by an article carried in Wednesday's editions of The Constitution that the newspaper and the two men tried "to induce state employes to violate the Georgia election laws by contributing to an election campaign in Chattooga County for the purpose of buying and influencing votes."

CONSTITUTION MUM

The Constitution's managing editor, William H. Fields, said Thursday night he had no comment to make on Pesterfield's charges and that he had instructed the writer of the Wednesday story, Jack Nelson, also to make no comment. Cook was not available for comment last night.

The Constitution story contained charges by Cook that two state sales tax employes from Dalton had contributed money to Pesterfield's senatorial campaign.

The story made public a letter from Cook to Edwin L. Swain, director of the state Merit System of Personnel Administration, in which Cook said Wally Bryant and James Reed of the Dalton sales tax unit had been politically active in Chattooga and contributed money to Pesterfield's campaign. Cook contended the alleged activity violated the Merit System laws and asked Swain for an immediate investigation.

As a result of the charges by Cook, Gov. Griffin has ordered an investigation of the situation.

MAYOR'S CHARGES

Pesterfield said reporter Nelson told him that he (Nelson) and an Atlanta detective who was not named came to Summerville "on the invitation of Bobby Lee Cook, picked up Riley Parham, a Summerville man, and went to Dalton."

"Nelson told me they did not receive one penny from the people from whom they attempted to solicit funds," Pesterfield declared.

The mayor said he would submit his information to "proper authorities for appropriate prosecution."

Pesterfield has denied he knew anything about the alleged contributions by Bryant and Reed at Dalton, contending he does not know either man. Bryant, in a statement yesterday, said he did not know the mayor.

Pesterfield further contends that Cook, the Atlanta newspaper and the detective tried to "frame" Bryant and Reed with the assistance of Parham, whom the mayor described as a convicted bootlegger and Cook's campaign manager in Chattooga County.
